

A parting word of advice?

With owning and maintaining a blog being so easy, you can quickly get swamped trying to keep up with all the blogs you read.

The good news is that you don't have to remember to go and visit these sites every day!

Each blog (and wiki and podcast for that matter) has a little file in the background that announces to the world that it has been updated - this is known as its 'feed' or 'RSS feed'.

To help you keep track of these feeds, you'll need to get a 'feed aggregator' - don't worry though, the majority of these are completely free!

For more information about this, visit <http://www.whereisab.co.uk/trackblogs.php>